SUSPENSION/EXPULSION & SCHOOLS of CHOICE

Please Note: The River Rouge School District's Board of Education has adopted a “zero tolerance policy” with regard to behavior for accepting nonresident applicants.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

At the time of application, you are asked to provide specific information regarding your child. Some of these items are a “discipline & attendance letter or report” for your child. If at any time it is found that the information you provided us during the enrollment process is inaccurate, the student will be dismissed from the River Rouge School District immediately.

Question:

A parent applied to enroll her high school age child in the district's School of Choice program. The parent failed to disclose the information that this pupil had been expelled from the previous/resident district. That information was revealed when the pupil's records were received from the previous/resident district. May the district expel this pupil based upon the fact that the parent failed to disclose this information?

Answer:

Yes. A district may choose to not enroll a pupil who has been suspended or expelled from the pupil's district of residence. Not having that information available at the time of enrollment, the district could not choose to not enroll this pupil. Therefore, the district may choose to expel the pupil at the time of disclosure.

I have read and understand the “zero tolerance policy” stated above.
